February 6, 2018

New York –The Drawing Center has commissioned Into Ourselves, a new short-term project by Argentinian artist Eduardo Navarro for The Lab, which will open on April 6, 2018. Navarro will produce a new series of edible drawings inspired by quantum physics—specifically the “holographic principle,” which describes how information in the universe can only be scrambled but never destroyed.

The drawings will be placed on shelves with red “heat lamps.” During the course of the exhibition, a soup will be made that will dissolve the drawings to make them digestible. Into Ourselves also explores the notion of shifting aesthetic primacy away from the eye and the world of ideas to the stomach and the metabolic system. Organized by Brett Littman, Executive Director.

ABOUT EDUARDO NAVARRO

Eduardo Navarro was born in Buenos Aires in 1979. Solo exhibitions of his work have been presented by the Museo Tamayo in Mexico City; High Line in New York; and DiTella University in Buenos Aires. His work was included in the 32nd São Paulo Biennial, Live uncertainty (2016); Frieze projects, New York (2016); Surround Audience, New Museum Triennial, New York (2015); The Past, The Present, The Possible, Sharjah Biennial, UEA (2015); We, the outsiders, e-flux, New York (2014); Ir para Volver, Cuenca Biennial, Ecuador (2014); Weather Permission, Mercosur Biennial (2013); There is always a cup of sea to sail in, 29 São Paulo Biennial (2010); and Screaming and Hearing, Mercosul Biennial (2009).

CREDITS

Into Ourselves has been jointly developed by The Drawing Center and Der Tank. It was shown for the first time in November 2017 at Der Tank, and has been produced thanks to the support of Galeria Nara Roesler and the Consulate General of Argentina in New York.
