THE DRAWING CENTER ANNOUNCES Sun Xun: Shock of Time

Drawing Room

February 20 – March 28, 2009

Opening Reception: Thursday, February 19, 6 – 8 pm

Gallery Talk: Saturday, February 21, 5:30 pm

New York, December 15, 2008 – From February 20 through March 28, 2009, The Drawing Center will present Sun Xun: Shock of Time, the first museum exhibition in New York devoted to the work of the Hangzhou-based artist. For his exhibition in the Drawing Room, Xun will exhibit two recent hand-drawn animations, shown together for the first time: Shock of Time (2006) and The Lie of the Magician (2005) which combine drawing and printmaking techniques with animation. Formally trained as a printmaker at the China Academy of Fine Arts, Xun creates hand-drawn films that engage aspects of historical and allegorical painting as well as political cartoons and natural imagery. Xun works with drawing to explore the analogous relationship between the moving image and the recurrent cycling of history; in particular, China's ongoing cultural, artistic, and political evolution.

In Shock of Time, Xun depicts various tropes and metaphors of duration and transience (e.g. a clock, a swinging pendulum) made from hundreds of single illustrations drawn on old newspaper and magazine pages. The artist sequentially films these drawings, a suite of which will be on view in the exhibition, to create a series of vignettes revolving around the passage of time. The Lie of the Magician makes use of the artist's own body as a landscape for images of nature (e.g. rain clouds evaporating, seedlings taking root) that invoke myths of creation. This exhibition is curated by João Ribas, Curator, The Drawing Center.

It was established in 1977 to provide opportunities for emerging and under-recognized artists; to demonstrate the significance and diversity of drawings throughout history; and to stimulate public dialogue on issues of art and culture.
